

Conference and cakes boost Christian Union fundraising

Students from Havering Sixth Form College's Christian Union have been kept busy this year with a number of fundraising and social events.

The CU, which has between 40 and 50 members, has raised more than £300 for the College's partnership charity EducAid. This amount will be enough to educate two children for a year in Sierra Leone in a school set up by the charity.

Among the events organised to raise the money were a cake sale, netball tournament, football tournament, donation collection and a Christian Union Conference.

The Conference involved students from other sixth form colleges and schools and outside speakers. During the event there was also an Easter drama production, a fashion show, music concert and a performance from the College Gospel Choir.

The Christian Union leaders – Joseph Oyegoke, Elizabeth Peters, Bankole Osiyemi, Ellen Smith, Sarah Botha and Samuel Amure – also produce and publish their own magazine called Chosen, which is available in the College Library, and they invite any students interested in joining the CU to attend their meetings on Fridays in L206 at 2.45pm.
