

COLLEGE FEST 2009

'College Fest' 2009 landed on one of the hottest days of the year and turned into an incredibly pleasant afternoon of music, food, celebration and comedy. We had some fantastic acts from the students and one "Howling" song from the Chemistry team's Nigel Hugget, with his werewolf song!

Highlights included our very own topical comedian Chandarana Raj and the ever cool, Alice Stacy with her newly formed band. We had rockin' punk sounds from Tragedy of the Hero led by Ben Cable and Oliver Sears. The powerful gospel tones from the college choir, 1Touch, run by our stage manager and all round technical expert John Banjoko. Thanks go to our wonderful compère Oribi Davies and Mark Brogdon who has helped enormously with the set up of our staging and supervising the sound qualities.

An ice-cream van and a full-on BBQ ran by Food Technology teacher Liz Beaumont and student Yemi Ogunlanmade made sure all participants and the audience were adequately fed and watered.

All the acts were amazing and we hope you all join us again next year for:
