

Saving Lives

Students undertaking the BTEC First Diploma in Sport and Tourism recently sat and passed their NVCO Appointed Person First Aid course. This is an additional qualification that boosts students' CVs and increases their chances of employment. The qualification forms part of a unit on Health, Safety and Injury.

The students not only enjoyed the course but gained valuable skills. Teacher Ian Budge said: 'The students have worked really hard to achieve this additional qualification. They have gained new skills and also developed a sense of responsibility.'

Photo 1 shows Aaron Keeling attending to fellow student Billy Fox.
Photo 2 shows Oluwatobi Osinowo bandaging teacher Ian Budge.
Photo 3 shows Nelma Assis successfully patching up George Jones.

